Grandparents Day will be recognized on Sunday, September 13, 2020. As you take some time to honor and celebrate your grandparents and/or loved ones, remember that sometimes the smallest details of the day make the most impact. A simple conversation with your grandparent, could make their day. If you can't be there in person. These questions make a great voice call, video call or email conversation starters. Recording or writing down the answers to these questions will document the information for future generations to come.

1. Who was your favorite teacher? What effect did they have on your life?
2. What was your first job? Did you enjoy it? How much money did you make?
3. What was your first car? How much did you pay for it?
