A medium sized spruce tree is in front of Jack's garage. It may have been sawed down by a chain saw, blown down or hit by a car that wasn't watching where it was going. It is very green outside with no snow, so it is summer. The tree smells like fresh spruce. Jack can't get in his garage. He's saying, "What am I going to do about this?"

Jack is going to have to move the tree away from his garage, which will be hard to do. He'll have to pull it away and he will need help to move it. That will take all day depending on how much help he gets.

Jack could saw the tree up to spread it out. If he's sawing it into parts, it could be dangerous so he wears bibs, earplugs and glasses for eye protection. Jack hears the saw; BZZZZZZZZ!, and smells sawdust.

Or....Jack could turn the tree into a big Christmas tree.

Some kids hurt themselves running when they were trying to catch up with their older sister. They are in a health room even though their parents are settled down.

Now the kids are in the kitchen! They're making pea soup for quite a few kids because there's quite a bit of soup in kettles. Soup is easier to eat if you're hurt.

The soup's ingredients are carrots, peas, beans, a little onion, corn, chicken and mushrooms. They'll have bakery muffins and crackers to eat with it. They can smell the muffins and the soup. The kids will like it. They'll want more! They'll drink 7-Up and have chocolate cake for dessert. Ma will clean up and the guys might go hunting afterwards.

Tom, a little boy, is resting in his bed. He is about 8 years old or maybe a little younger. Tom had gone to the zoo with his family. Tom has a dog named Rover and a cat named Kitty. Sometimes Tom calls the cat "Here Kitty Kitty." Tom and his family were resting. He was very tired. He was given a snack since he was a good boy at the zoo. He can't be given too much to eat since he will be napping. He also got a toy at the zoo that he had in his bed next to him. Tom really wants his nap. He has his jammies on.

Tom was in his bedroom. In his bedroom, there was a lamp that has a light on and a dresser with a glass of water or maybe milk. It looks like he was building something with blocks on the side of his bed. There is also a train (near the foot of the bed.) He liked it and would not let it go. Tom is thinking about a story he liked before going to bed while eating a snack that he has in his hand.

Tom goes to sleep. After Tom's naps, he is going to eat Bohemian Kolatchies, which are very good pastry. He will drink a soda with it.

Annie and Tommy are friends. Both Annie and Tommy are wearing jackets. Annie's jacket is pink. Annie and Tommy are at the park, maybe the Manitowoc Zoo. They are standing near lots of water, a lake. The place is very far from home. It is the fall and the air is cool. They are resting after swimming in the lake. They are both very happy and laughing.

Annie and Tommy are looking at the geese. They are throwing popcorn out to them. The geese are crowding around Tommy and Annie, so they have something to eat. The geese are happy. They are white and wild. The geese do not look good. The geese say hi, chirp/chirp and quack/quack. It smells like animals. Some of them are far away.

The animals are ready to fight someone that doesn't like them, it could be someone in the water. They need to get something back. They will have fun though.

The grown-ups are not far away because they have to watch the little ones, especially the girl who is not that old. The parents will take them home.
